- 50 organizations contacted us for training, counseling and consulting
- 2,090 individuals received training as part of an in-person workshop or webinar
- More than 1,000 hours of psychological care were provided remotely to those with no other resource
- 840 individuals received resilience assessments to prepare them for challenging deployments
- Over 500 individuals took the Headington Institute Resilience Inventory (HIRI) this year. This global data is helping us better understand the best ways to support humanitarian staff and first responders
- We provided 370 hours of management consultation to managers, equipping them to respond to a broad range of staff care needs and emergencies
- More than 165,000 online visitors used our website, blog, YouTube videos, Facebook page, and mobile app to support their well-being and trauma recovery

WE'RE PREPARING AID WORKERS AND EMERGENCY RESPONDERS FOR WHAT'S AHEAD

- Developing new scalable services for large organizations – something for everyone
- Creating new training resources to promote responder team and family resilience
- Finding new ways to reach local national workers lacking support
- Expanding training in psychological aspects of security
- Researching sexual assault of aid workers to increase their safety
- Partnering with international network of care providers to increase impact

WE'VE BEEN BUILDING THEIR PERSONAL AND TEAM RESILIENCE FOR 15 YEARS

- Established in October of 2000 to care for caregivers worldwide
- Provided training, counseling, and consultation services to tens of thousands of responders
- Recognized leader in staff care for aid workers and emergency responders
